INTRODUCTION FROM THE CEO

Peter McVerry Trust has been busy since the launch of its last Strategic Plan 2011-2015 with a range of developments in key areas such as housing, children's and homeless services. We have also seen our work develop beyond Dublin in response to emerging needs in Kildare, Laois and Limerick. Our services in homelessness, housing, drug treatment and under 18s services have been adapted and enhanced to meet changing needs and new services have been established for singles, couples and families. Housing stock has also been increased to provide clear pathways out of homelessness in line with the principles of Housing First.

In order to secure access to housing for the most vulnerable, Peter McVerry Trust will continue to campaign for the right to a home to be inserted into the Constitution. We strongly believe that an adequate supply of good quality social and affordable housing is essential to end long term homelessness and eliminate the need to sleep rough. The availability of these housing units will also influence the success of a Housing First approach to tackling homelessness. Given the scale of the challenge of housing supply, Peter McVerry Trust recognises that it will take time to significantly increase housing stock. In the interim, it is essential that any measures that can alleviate homelessness are implemented. The success of Rebuilding Ireland, a comprehensive and detailed housing action plan which overlaps with Peter McVerry Trust's own strategic plan, will be vital to help ensure the adequate provision of social and affordable housing in the coming years. It is also essential that any measures that can reduce homelessness are introduced. At the core of these measures is the need to prevent new cases of homelessness.

Concerted efforts are needed to tackle deep-rooted causes of homelessness in our society such as poverty and inequality.

Peter McVerry Trust will continue to advocate for the needs of vulnerable individuals and work to combat social exclusion. Social justice and dignity will remain to the fore of our discussions with policy makers and Government.

Peter McVerry Trust is committed to adapting throughout the lifetime of this third organisational strategic plan so that it is best positioned to respond to the needs of the most vulnerable in a changing social, political, economic and regulatory environment.

The success of Peter McVerry Trust's long standing strategy to provide housing to those who are homeless will ensure we are well positioned to play an active and solution-focused role in tackling homelessness in Ireland. To this end we will explore all avenues to secure additional stock and will partner with statutory and voluntary bodies, private donors and businesses to maximise housing provision to those who are homeless.

Pat Doyle, CEO

MESSAGE FROM THE FOUNDER

The past five years have been very difficult for all agencies working with homeless people, including Peter McVerry Trust. The number of homeless people has been increasing month by month. In December 2015, the number of homeless adults had reached a record high of 5,480; the number of homeless children exceeded 1,600 and more than 2,000 foreign nationals were also homeless but not included in the official statistics, and this despite the fact that, in 2015, Ireland had the highest economic growth in the EU, and the Government took in €3 billion euro which had not been anticipated.

Many of those becoming homeless in Ireland today have lost their private rented accommodation due to their inability to pay the soaring rents being demanded. Most were never homeless before and never ever thought that they would find themselves in this situation.

Peter McVerry Trust will continue to play its role, admittedly a small role, in providing accommodation and care for homeless people and in helping them to exit out of homelessness. While we will continue to provide hostel accommodation for as long as it is needed in order to get people off the streets, we are committed to the Housing First model which aims to provide homeless people with their own long-term accommodation and then support them, if necessary, with whatever personal problems they may have such as addiction or mental health. We are increasing the number of apartments where we can offer long-term tenancies to homeless people as rapidly as resources allow.

Housing is a fundamental human right, which, like our health, we tend to take for granted until we lose it. It is also the most serious social issue which Ireland faces today.

With the right political will, it can be solved. We will continue to advocate on behalf of homeless people to seek to get the issue of homelessness and housing to the top of the Government's agenda. Our goal is to go out of business, the problem of homelessness having been eliminated. But there is little sign that that is going to happen any time soon! Hence the need for this strategic plan.

Fr Peter McVerry SJ

The charity was established in 1983 by Fr Peter McVerry to respond to the growing issue of youth homelessness in Dublin. Since then, it has supported thousands of vulnerable young people on the margins of Irish society. Today, Peter McVerry Trust works to tackle homelessness, drug misuse and social disadvantage. The organisation provides a wide range of services to meet the growing needs of many young people exercising homelessness. These services range from meeting the basic needs of people by providing food and shelter to helping people realise their right to a home.

STRUCTURE, DEVELOPMENT AND IMPLEMENTATION OF PETER MCVERRY TRUST'S STRATEGIC PLAN 2016-2020

The plan sets out seven high level strategic objectives which are each supported by three key drivers. The seven high level strategic objectives identified in the plan have been chosen to keep the organisation clearly focused on participant needs, prevention, increased access to housing, leadership and collaboration, organisational sustainability, best practice in service delivery, and effective communications and advocacy.

The development of the plan was guided by Peter McVerry Trust's Research and Services Committee and reviewed and approved by the Board of Directors. Two independent facilitators, Burtenshaw Kenny Associates and Abate Counselling & EAP Ltd were appointed to consult with internal and external stakeholders. Consultations were carried out with samples from our stakeholder groups including:

- 32 participants from across Peter McVerry Trust's services
- 9 members of our Board of Directors
- 2 Committee Members
- CEO and senior management team together with frontline managers & staff
- 20 external stakeholders from both the statutory and voluntary sectors

The feedback from this extensive exercise was thematically collated and the high level strategic objectives of the plan were distilled from this material. The plan sets the organisation's strategic direction over the period 2016-20 and will be supported by annual business plans that reflect the organisation's seven high level strategic objectives. Peter McVerry Trust will remain cognisant of, and endeavour to reflect where appropriate, any new or updated strategies developed by Government and statutory agencies during the lifetime of this plan.

Peter McVerry Trust's Research and Services Committee will review the delivery of the strategic plan on a regular basis and provide annual feedback to the Board of Directors.
